After School Programs Offered at City of Miami Parks

(Miami, FL March 14, 2011)— City of Miami parks offer several after school programs; this includes homework assistance, sport league participation, arts and crafts and more.

The Children's Trust funds the after school programs at Armbrister Park, African Square Park, Juan Pablo Duarte Park, Shenandoah Park, Williams Park and Jose Marti Parks, also the Sand Delucca Developmental Center offers after school programs for children with disabilities. As part of the Children's Trust program students get extra assistance with reading, math and science skills to help them improve their performance in school.

At Grapeland Park, Shenandoah Park and Fern Isle Park young ladies interested in playing softball can sign up for Girl's Softball League, they will get trained in key softball skills and have the opportunity to play in inter-city and inter-county tournaments.
