City Of Miami Says Live, Laugh, Love!

(Miami, FL March 7, 2011)— On March 11, 2011, at 8pm, the Manuel Artime Theater 900 S.W. 1 Street, will be filled with eager performers who will show case what it means to “Live, Laugh, Love”, the title of the Sandra Delucca Developmental Center’s showcase.

For many, this show is the moment of a lifetime, where the stage will be a great equalizer and entertainment will be delivered by performers of all abilities! 240 persons with special needs, will come together for an evening of celebration through performing arts, displaying their talents after months of practice.

The show presented in partnership with the Actors’ Playhouse, boasts a theme that represents how many of the clients from the various programs within South Florida embrace life.

“This show demonstrates to all what is possible within us” said Nadia N. Arguelles-Goicoechea, Program Coordinator for the City of Miami Sandra Delucca Developmental Center. “ It truly shows us how important it is to live, laugh and love.”

Taking the stage will be programs from the City of Miami’s Adult Day Training Program, Goodwill Band, Miami Dade County Parks Disabilities Services/Leisure Access, Baywatchers, Casterline Group Home, City of Hialeah - Special Populations, The Shimmy Club, Inc, Liberty City Steppers and will be joined by the Actors’ Playhouse Musical Miracles.

Through the Actors’ Playhouse participation, the show highlights inclusion and how a talent show can celebrate all abilities. Professional Actors, Celia Merendi & Aaron Goldenberg will be performing and acting as the show MC’s for the evening.

“Zydeco Bounce”, “Green Eggs and Ham”, “Conga Line” and more will be performed on stage. The showcase will be honored to host the Goodwill Band, who were featured in the award winning film “For Once In My Life”.

The show is open to the public and tickets are available in advance, please call (305) 461-7201 ext 222.
