Miami, FL (February 7, 2011) - Themed "Dreams Do Come True", the first annual Mayor's Ball kicked-off to a successful evening at the InterContinental Hotel in downtown Miami. In a continuing effort to aid the youth through the avenues of academics, athletics, and activities, Miami Mayor Tomas Regalado and the Miami Police Athletic League (PAL) hosted the first Mayor's Ball with 100% of proceeds benefiting PAL. Thanks to the generosity of those in attendance over $50,000 was raised. Guests included, event sponsors, City of Miami Commissioners, City and County Officials, City of Miami Police representatives and many notable celebrities.

"I appreciate the support and I want to express my thanks on behalf of PAL and also on behalf of the City of Miami for the donations made to this worthy cause. This event will probably save lives and change the future of the City's youth in the years to come, our goal is to fill playgrounds and not prisons", said Mayor Regalado

Official check made out to The Miami Police Athletic League, Inc. (Miami PAL)

The Miami Police Athletic League, Inc. (Miami PAL) is a 501(c) 3 charitable organization which relies on the generosity of extraordinary citizens and corporations, to provide resources that will keep inner-city under-represented youth, active, productive, and safe. The mission of Miami PAL is to enhance the relationship between the City of Miami Police Department, and underprivileged minority youth; through positive interactions and mentoring. The intention is to prevent juvenile delinquency through the avenues of academics, athletics, and activities. For more information please visit www.palmiami.com
