Commencement of Teen Clean Summer Youth Program

Spearheaded by Commissioner Spence-Jones, The South Florida Workforce and City of Miami NET Offices teamed up with the City of Miami's Office of Sustainable Initiatives and Belafonte Tacolcy Center Park to train youth ages 14-22 as Environmental Outreach Specialists over a 6-week summer program, Teen Clean. Approximately 30 students from District 5 were selected to participate.

The youth spent two days per week providing community service and planning environmental projects throughout their neighborhoods, while spending three days per week in an educational setting learning valuable professional and environmental skills from experts in the field. The program covered Health and Wellness, Sustainable Architecture, Native Landscaping, Green Jobs and Economy, Recycling, GIS Asset-Based Mapping, and Green Transportation.

The closing ceremony took place at the Belafonte Tacolcy Center on Friday, August 7, 2009. Commissioner Spence-Jones recognized the 30 students with certificates and t-shirts.
